Marsh Building Products and Marsh Window & Door Classics invite Ohio Valley NARI members, their guests and prospective members to join us at their Loveland location for an evening of education, food & drink as well as door prizes.

With a focus on their fiberglass-pultrusion Ultrex, the latest generation of composite building materials, Marsh will present information about their new Apex Ultrex siding and their Integrity All-Ultrex windows and doors. Apex siding, the only fiberglass-pultrusion siding in the industry, is lightweight and eliminates issues of water absorption and thermal expansion associated with other composite siding and trim products.

Also included will be information and discussions regarding performance, installation, finishing and maintenance of these products, including a hands-on demonstration of an Apex siding installation.

Let's learn together about the application and performance of the latest generation of building materials NARI members will use to lead our industry in the future.
